Forest Theatre Request Explained By Sponsor

In order to clear up any misunderstanding which may exist regarding the recent request to the city council by Mrs. Norma K. MacHardy for the use of the Forest Theatre on August 29, 30, and 31, a further check over the minutes of the meeting reveals that Mrs. MacHardy did not state that she was a representative of the San Francisco Bay Players.

Mrs. MacHardy told The Pine Cone that in talking informally with Mrs. Carmalita Benson of the aforementioned group she suggested the Forest Theatre as a possible place to produce The Infernal Machine, if the group decided to go on tour. At the council meeting she sponsored the request for the August dates but did not act in an official capacity. However, she later withdrew the request.

In speaking of the Forest Theatre, comes a suggestion this week from Police Judge George P. Ross that out-of-town theatrical groups be required by the city to post a bond before they are granted use of the theatre. This would also apply to the school board in granting use of Sunset Auditorium for musical groups and others desiring the use of the school building. Residents who were here a few years ago will remember the financial fiasco surrounding the group renting the club house at the Del Monte polo field.—B. I.

Private Schools, Baby Sitters Now Require Licenses

Of importance to Carmel residents is the law recently passed by the California State Legislature requiring the licensing of all private schools and persons or institutions offering care to children under 16 years of age. This has been assigned to the State Department of Social Welfare.

The license standards "are a concise statement of the basic elements which give protection to children in group care and which foster normal physical, mental and social development. The day care facility provides the child physical safety, health protection and a schedule of daily activities designed for the purpose of enjoyment, habit training and normal development."

The license will carry a clearance from the State Marshal's office covering the building or dwelling "where care is offered for caring for a child or children either with or without compensation."

The building must be so situated as to provide adequate sunshine and shade—air space and enclosed playground and equipment for recreational and outdoor activities. The indoor facilities follow the same requirements and where children are served meals or remain overnight, special plans are exacted. The department offers its nutrition expert for consultation in regard to planning meals accord-

M. I. T. Professor Of Geology Draws Rich Philosophy From Explorations Through Far Corners Of The Earth

BY GLENN CLAIRMONTE

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Morris have been the guests of Mrs. Sophie Marshall during the past three weeks and seemed to be summing up the reasons for their satisfaction in the richness of their lives, while they watched the blaze in the hearth.

They have had some opportunities presented to them, and have created others, to become acquainted with the earth. They have known many nations also and the literature of those nations, and now on this vacation they are shopping around for the place they will make their home in a few years, upon retirement. Dr. Morris is professor of structural geology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has spent most of his life compiling scientific facts in detail, but he has the wonder-aroused blue eyes of a poet under his healthy white hair. When he begins to write in leisure he will probably portray the philosophy that he and his wife have developed together in their travels.

As a boy he meant to be a painter of landscapes and was encouraged in this design until he saw the juvenile works of great artists and recognized his mistake. After a disconsolate summer he discovered that his type of mind could be applied to science, and with this new resolve he began his high school studies.

He never again had cause to change his general direction, although he did go from biology to paleontology and then to geology. He claims to have drawn intellectual sustenance from the giants who were his masters, Henry Fairfield Osborn, William Diller Matthew and William King Gregory, the big three of the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

Another of his colleagues who was a strong influence upon him was Amadeus William Grabau, chief paleontologist of the Chinese Geological Survey from 1920 to 1947, a former professor of Columbia University who was interned in China during the recent war. In collaboration with Professor Grabau, Dr. Morris wrote Perminian of Mongolia, a monograph

Carmel Woods Annexation Plan Is Delayed

The petition, signed by about 80 per cent of the residents of Carmel Woods, for annexation to the Carmel Sanitary District, was presented at Monday night's meeting of the trustees, but was held over for action until the next regular meeting on September 8.

Dale Leidig, spokesman for the group signing the petition, asked an extension of time in order to study the matter further. Attorney Shelburne Robison, representing the group, explained in detail the boundaries of the land in question. Because of the recently publicized pollution of the Carmel River near the sewage plant, some residents in the district were doubtful as to the advisability of joining the district.

A suggestion that the Carmel Woods group establish a disposal plant of its own was deemed as impractical because of the high cost. A further and complete investigation will be made before the next meeting. Monday night's session was attended by about 20 interested property owners.

that was the result of explorations in Mongolia and which included the classifications and names of hundreds of fossils located in that unknown region. They unearthed there secrets of the coal age that had never before been suspected by scientists.

"There isn't a thing which happens on this planet that is not our business," said Dr. Morris when he recalled the beginning of World War I.

Knowing the earth and the reasons for its shape and the formation of its strata, Dr. Morris was repeatedly surprised to hear the discussions of isolationists, who believed this country could run itself without regard to the rest of the world. When he offered his services he was appointed advisor in geography to the State Department in Washington, and he studied the relation of strategy to topography from the North Sea to the Balkans. In this work he was associated with Professor A. K. Lobeck and Professor Sam Knight, both geomorphologists. Their contribution to the war effort is something which the public can not readily grasp, but its importance to the government was such that the study has been continued until this day.

In 1920 Dr. Morris went to China and first of all bent his efforts to learning the language. He familiarized himself with everything

GETTING AROUND THE PENINSULA

By GLENN CLAIRMONTE

When the lights went out all over Carmel Wednesday morning at 10:45, the telephone company was flooded with calls from householders and business men who wanted to know what had happened. William Crabbe, manager of the Monterey P. G. & E., advised that someone reported seeing a flash on Junipero street back of Sunset School. Following this clue, linemen were finally able to ascertain that a short circuit had been caused in that location when wires swinging in the wind had been pulled together against a transformer. Within an hour repairs had been made and machinery was in motion again, and only a couple of favorite radio programs had been lost forever.

X X X

After the extensive fire in Carmel Valley last week the state bulldozer from King City continued to make firebreaks around many of the homes on the hill opposite the burned area in order to protect the upper part of Robles del Rio in case the wind should sweep fire in that direction. In last week's Pine Cone, due to a typographical error, it was reported that 700,000 acres had been burned, but the true figure is in the neighborhood of 1,000 acres.

The California Fish and Game Commission in Monterey reports that during the month of August last year the sardine catch amounted to 5,700 tons although, due to a strike, the work had not begun until August 11. This year 4,400 tons have been taken since

Original Lobos Committee To Be Reactivated

A recommendation that the original state committee appointed some years ago by the Save The Redwoods League to draw up the rules and regulations for Point Lobos be reactivated will be sent to Aubrey Drury, president of the organization, following a meeting on Wednesday in Carmel.

Attending the meeting were Francis Whitaker, president of the Lobos League, Carmel Martin and Allen Griffin, members of the original advisory committee, and H. L. Blaisdell, superintendent of the Beaches and Park Commission.

This committee, which includes such notables as Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur and Dr. Robert Hunter, will be called together sometime in the near future to make suggestions to the Park Commission about the future of Point Lobos. Suggestions for the protection of the vegetation and wild life of the park will be made and forwarded to the park commission.

It is expected that the group will recommend that picnicking be banned from the area, in order to cut down on the number of people using the park. Visitors are using the park in such great numbers that the plant life is becoming seriously endangered. Many of them wander from the marked trails and pathways and trample the undergrowth.

The next step to be undertaken by the Lobos League, according to Whitaker, will be to determine the possibility of obtaining the shore line in the vicinity of San Jose Creek as a recreational spot where picnic tables and outdoor fireplaces could be placed, without danger to the natural beauty of the area.

Paganini Quartet To Open Season

A brilliant opening event for the winter musical season on the Peninsula was revealed this week with the announcement by the Monterey County Symphony Association that it would present the internationally known Paganini Quartet at the Sunset Auditorium on October 9.

The distinguished group of players who have adopted Carmel Highlands as their permanent home, will appear in a benefit performance presented in connection with the current fund drive of the Symphony Association. Mrs. Grace C. Howden, Association president, stated, in announcing the plans, that the directors of the symphony group feel it a privilege to be able to introduce so fine a group of artists to the community which they have chosen as their home.

The quartet is composed of Henri Temianka, Gustave Rosseels, Robert Courte, and Robert Maas. Their instruments are the four fabulous Stradivarius instruments which belonged to Paganini, greatest virtuoso of the violin, and which were assembled for the group through the generosity of Mrs. William Andrews Clark, widely known patron of chamber music.

The story of the formation of the quartet which has become an integral part of Carmel's cultural endowment is an amazingly dramatic history of the realization of a lifetime ambition by four outstanding artists. The quartet made its world debut in 1946 at a series of Beethoven programs given in Wheeler Hall at Berkeley. Seldom have music-lovers of Carmel been presented with the opportunity to hear so distinguished a group of artists. Mr. Temianka has expressed a keen interest in the work of the Symphony Association and a desire to assist in its furtherance.

WATER COMPANY MEETS

Annual meeting of the Robles del Rio Water Company was held Monday night at the lodge recreation hall. In the election for directors of the organization, Hayde Leve, Col. F. W. Hunter and Herbert Dockery were re-elected, while Robert Weaver and Stanley Taylor were newly-elected members.

A report of the past fiscal year was read by retiring members of the board, William Woods and Alex Dobie. The meeting was attended by about 50 residents of the tract, who voted in person, while the balance of the votes was brought in by proxies.

TWINBILL TONIGHT

Sunset Field will be the setting for an interesting evening of softball tonight, when the Castroville Girls meet the Carmel Girls in a 7 o'clock game, and the Lions Club squares off with the American Legion at 8:15. The Carmel lassies will be seeking revenge for an earlier loss suffered at the hands of the Castroville gals.

In the main event, the Lions and Legion will be battling for first half honors and for a top rung on the second half ladder. Statistics favor the Lions to emerge on top in this encounter but, with a top grade performance, the Legion could rip the claws off the favorites. Jim Kelsey will take the mound for the Legion, while dependable and cagey Paul Clemens will attempt to stop the vet sluggers.

PINE CONE BREAKS EVEN WITH SAN FRANCISCO

Before the largest crowd ever to witness a softball contest at Sunset Field, the San Francisco Ayobbs and the Pine Cone split a double header last Saturday night. The San Francisco team lived up to all advance publicity and fielded a well-grounded scrappy ball club. Only because the Pine Cone nine played in their best form were they able to cope with the visitors and snare one of the games.

The first contest was a pitchers battle from start to finish, with both pitchers allowing one earned run. Gordy Miyamoto, flashy Pine Cone short patcher, opened the local team's offense by homering inside the park. The Ayobbs evened the count in the third canto when Mobarg hit a booming triple and scored on Corbett's well-placed double. The score remained deadlocked until the last inning when the visitors put together two walks, a base hit and a Pine Cone miscue to tally the winning marker. Even in defeat the locals played better ball than they have exhibited all season, and so close was the battle that they could have pulled it out of the fire with a little better luck.

Ky Miyamoto, Carmel's favorite hurler, flipped them over for the Pine Cone and held the hard-hitting San Francisco pastimers to 4 blows. The Pine Cone swingers connected for 5 legitimate pokes off the deliveries of Oliver, Ayob first string hurler.

Carmel won the second tilt behind the steady pitching of Don Edwards, Hollister High School casaba coach. Edwards held the San Francisco stars to 4 hits and was mighty stingy in the pinches. The locals also collected 4 bingles but put them together in the sixth frame to tally enough markers to coast to victory. Ky Miyamoto, playing second base in this game, provided the damaging blow by hitting a triple with two mates on the sacks.

The Ayobbs threw a 19 year old pitcher at the Pine Cone in the second contest and he showed a world of stuff for a softball neophyte. Although the locals tallied 3 runs, they were able to garner only 4 blows during the 7 inning tilt.

FACULTY STINGS LEGION

Education paid off again last Thursday night when the Faculty shunned the hit and run type of softball to delve into the strategic type of play to down the fighting Legion ten, 8 to 3. Jim Kelsey, Legion pitcher, proved easy pickings for the pedagogues, who combed his offerings for three tallies in the second inning, two in the third and three in the sixth. Bill Cross, mathematics teacher emeritus, sparked the Faculty hitters with 3 blows in 3 attempts.

"Bugs" Dawson, still smarting from the 12 to 0 defeat which the Legion hung on the teachers during the first half, bore down from the first gun and handcuffed the heavy hitting Legionnaires. The Legion picked up a scant 4 hits, three of them by Lawler, left fielder.

LIONS CONTINUE HOT PACE; DEFEAT POLICE, 9 TO 3

The Carmel Lions Club, geared for the 1947 Adult League championship, jumped another hurdle last Friday night when they took the measure of the hard-luck Police, 9 to 3. The Lions rode to victory on the strong right arm of Paul Clemens and the big bat of Kelly Taylor. Paul struck out 10 Police swingers and gave up only 4 hits for the seven innings. Kelly teed off on one of Hawkins' fast balls and deposited it over the left field barrier. The bags were bulging when Kelly swung for his four-master, and this poke was enough to subdue the Carmel law enforcers. Waldo Hicks, Lion backstop, hit a neat 3 for 4 to lead the percentage hitters.

Softball fans are amazed by the sterling type of ball exhibited by the Lions Club and there are rumors that the Pine Cone team will be matched with the Lions to decide the city championship. If the clubbers continue to show their present ability it will take a first class team to take them apart.

FACULTY BEATS FIREMEN TO KEEP PACE WITH LIONS

Hot on the heels of the sizzling Lions, the Carmel High School Faculty eked out a close 11 to 10 victory over the Carmel smoke-eaters last Tuesday night. The game was a nip and tuck affair from the opening pitch and either team could have walked off with the laurels. "Bugs" Dawson, exhibiting streaks of wildness at times, was in hot water for most of the contest and it required a double play and several do or die catches to hold the Firemen safe. Ken Roberts pitched good ball for the Firemen and deserved better treatment. Several bobbles by his mates proved costly for the Fireman cause.

Huddleson, Fireman second-sacker, led the bat-wielders with 3 solid pokes in 4 tries. Hurler Dawson found Kenny Roberts' pitches to his liking and helped himself to a brace of base knocks. Lloyd Miller, back from Stanford summer school, held down the initial sack duties for the pedagogues and came up with some choice fielding plays. Lloyd's power will be welcome by the Faculty as they near the run down the stretch.

RANDOLPH SCOTT WINNER RAIN-CHECK TOURNAMENT

Randolph Scott, who has been spending the past two weeks at Del Monte Lodge, won the Rain-Check golf tournament held over the weekend. Downie Orrick edged out Charles M. Daniels and George Nickels.

Lectures, Films, Will Feature Audubon Program

Dr. W. A. Angwin, chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society screen tours project, today made announcement of the dates scheduled for the five lectures to be given with color motion pictures in the Sunset Auditorium, under the auspices of the Society.

On Wednesday, October 2, Alexander Sprunt, Jr., will speak on Our Living Earth, covering the meaning and importance of conservation, and showing the formation and growth of soil, the building of a plant from air, earth and water, and animal life inter-relations. On Thursday, November 20, Laurel Reynolds will use Fun with Birds as her subject, and Roger Tory Peterson will speak January 15 on The Riddle of Migration, describing the irresistible lure of the north in spring and of the south in fall in the bird world. Happy Valley, the title of the lecture to be given March 3 by Tom and Arlene Hadley, will show canoe treks through northern Michigan. The fifth of the series will be delivered by Dr. Telford H. Work about the offshore islands along the California coast. He will show dramatic motion pictures of oceanic islands where puffins, murres, guillemots, pelicans and cormorants nest, and where sealions play in the raging surf.

Present arrangements make it possible for the Society to sell season tickets for the entire five motion picture lectures at $2.40 for adults and $1.20 for school children. Checks are being sent to Dr. Angwin, at Box 2381, Carmel, in order to assure admittance, for the Sunset Auditorium is not expected to be large enough to take care of the public interested in the talks by these famous naturalists.

BUYS HOME HERE

Mrs. Ruby Walker of Hanford, has bought the Arthur Kronholm house in Eighty Acres, which she will have as a summer home. Mr. and Mrs. Kronholm will return to San Francisco.

Two New High School Appointments Made

Two new appointments for high school positions have just been announced by Dr. Stuart Mitchell, superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District. Eleanor Crouch, formerly with Chico high school, will teach social studies, and Viola May Knoche, who has recently earned her M. A. at Stanford University after teaching at the University of Kansas, will be full-time librarian. This latter position has been created this month because of the urgent need as described at the last meeting of the school board.

Fiesta Espanol Here Tonight And Tomorrow

Inesita, celebrated flamenco dancer, the Inca Taky Trio, famous Peruvian singers and guitarists, Celso Hurtado, marimba virtuoso, Alex and Martita, M-G-M dance stars from Xavier Cugat's orchestra, and Paco Avellan, gypsy pianist formerly with Carmen Amaya, appear in person in Fiesta Espanol, magnificently costumed festival of Spanish and South American songs and dances, which opened at Sunset Auditorium last evening, under the direction of Margaret Poole and William Walker, Peninsula concert managers, who plan to make this an annual summer event.

Performances of Fiesta Espanol will also be given tonight and Saturday night at 8:30. Following the Carmel engagement, this attraction goes direct to Santa Barbara, where it will play the Lobero Theatre August 28, 29 and 30, during the Old Spanish Days Fiesta.

Inesita won favor in concerts at the Opera House, San Francisco, and Geary Theatre last season, when Claude La Belle, critic of the News, acclaimed her as "the equal of the late La Argentina." She dances Manzanilla, Seguidilla Mora, Sevilla, La Vide Breve, Serenata, Goyescas, and other numbers.

Carmelites Attend S. F. Art Preview

Carmel was well represented at the Rotunda Art Gallery preview in San Francisco last week, where Emil White of Big Sur has his water colors on exhibit.

Among the numerous guests enjoying the show and the martinis were Johan Hagemeyer, still searching for a studio, Susan Wall of Monterey's Wall Gallery, Martha Bullitt, formerly of The Pine Cone and now with the San Francisco Museum, and Olga Wellman, who is with the San Francisco Theatre Association which will open the Tivoli Theatre October 1.

LINNETS, LIKE SWALLOWS, RETURN HERE EACH YEAR

One of the highlights of Carmel is the pair of linnets who return every year to make their nest in the metal receptacle below the light at the entrance of La Ribera Hotel. They have raised a couple of families each year and are always treated with respect by the hotel attendants who must change bulbs or clean the fixture. The other day when Angelo Hewetson and his bride discovered them they were singing merrily and Mr. Hewetson himself burst forth into song, after this manner:

This is my little friend, Bubbles, Expressing his joy, not his troubles.

When perched or in flight
His singing is bright,
In fact he just bubbles and bubbles.

Dog Show To Be Held At Mission Ranch Sept. 21

Plans are now under way for the annual Del Monte Kennel Club Dog Show, which will be held at Mission Ranch Club again this year on September 21.

Last year's show, the first since the war, was most successful and there were more than 500 dogs entered. It is believed that there will be an even larger entry this year, and officers of the organization urge local breeders to enter their dogs.

Although it will not be a bench show, many of those showing their dogs will improvise their own benches.

It has been announced by Miss Marion Kingsland that the judges will be from the east, and their names will be announced at a later date. Trophies will be donated by both local and out of town persons and places of business. Those wishing information may get in touch with Miss Kingsland.

Recreation Program Activities

By GEORGE MOSOLF

Today writes finis to the Carmel School District's 1947 Summer Recreation Program. All the play areas will be closed after today in order that maintenance crews can ready them for the opening of school, September 10.

Carmel citizens are fortunate to have a progressive school board which provides a well-rounded program of summer activities, and makes possible the maximum utilization of the school facilities. A successful recreation program hinges on the cooperation of supervisors, citizens, and participants. This cooperation has been 100 per cent during the past summer and has made possible nine weeks of healthful play and recreation. To list everyone who has contributed to the success of the program would require another edition of The Pine Cone, so we'll sign off the pleasant summer with a big THANKS.

100 KIDS SPLASH IN FRED GODWIN'S POOL

Last Monday afternoon over a hundred Carmel sprouts converged on Fred Godwin's La Playa pool and kicked up the water in a big way. Most of the afternoon was spent in recreation swimming, but a portion of the time was utilized for a swimming meet. The meet brought out some spirited competition and gave participants a chance to try out the skills acquired during the summer. Howard Byrne acted as official starter and Lloyd Miller handled the difficult task of judging the finish. Excellent performances were turned in by several competitors and a good time was had by all. Certificates of merit were presented to boys and girls who placed first, second, or third.

U. S. SENATOR CAIN IS CARMEL VISITOR

U. S. Senator Harry P. Cain, who has been a member of the investigating committee of the Howard Hughes case, stopped off in Carmel Wednesday to visit his uncle, Col. William E. Pulliam. Senator Cain leaves again shortly on another senatorial investigation, this time for Alaska.

RED EAGLE ILL

Red Eagle last Friday evening was the object of much solicitation when friends found him ill in his little house, and the Carmel police department made hourly calls to be sure he received all the attention he needed. When Dr. Joseph McCarthy advised his removal to the county hospital in Salinas, the ambulance was called at 11:00 o'clock. His many friends will be relieved to hear that he is now resting nicely and recovering.

Carmel has decided to go ahead with completion of a war time suspended street project, out of gas tax monies on Junipero street, and expects to get the street oiled through its entire length before the rains come.

HOTEL PLANS APPROVED

The Carmel Planning Commission met in City Hall Wednesday afternoon to consider application by H. G. Brailford for permit to build a two-story, 15-room-and-bath hotel on the northwest corner of Ocean Avenue and Torres, which had been referred by the city council to the commission with power to act. On land covering 8,450 square feet it is proposed to erect a 3,000 square foot building, without eating accommodations, and the members of the commission congratulated Lewis Snyder, the architect, on attention given to beautification. The plans were approved by resolution.

Summer School Dancing Classes Prove Popular

This has been the last week for the recreational program of the public school in Carmel, but there is pressure upon Ruth Allerhand to make sure that it will not be the last week of the creative dance courses which she has been conducting. Her classes have turned out to be a community activity which satisfies the need for a rhythmic use of the body, and it is the only thing of its kind on the Peninsula. Miss Allerhand, who has had wide training and experience in Germany before the war and in New York since that time, expresses herself as willing to continue her project if she can possibly locate a suitable dance floor in Carmel.

Miss Allerhand has been known to specialize in the teaching of the tango, rumba and samba, but because of her nursery and psychology background she has been especially valuable in the educational system, giving pre-school classes and grading her work also through the high school ages. Her six classes during the summer at the Sunset School have been attended by nearly a hundred children and adults.

"Creative dance is not a matter of routine," Miss Allerhand said. "The director may indicate but never demonstrates in a class where the voluntary approach to a rhythmic solution must be taken on the part of the student."

Miss Allerhand uses her medium as a means to develop social consciousness in her pupils, teaching the respect of the needs of others and the overcoming of personal animosities. Drawing and modeling and the use of percussion instruments are all part of the dance instruction as she gives it, and she stresses the relationship of movement to choral speaking.

"This method can attain the cardinal objectives of education," said Miss Allerhand, "that is, social relationships, good leadership, critical thinking, factual knowledge and appreciation of worthwhile activity."

Before coming to Carmel Miss Allerhand taught rhythmic gymnastics over the radio network WEVD and wrote a series of articles for The New Theatre on Why Lay People Should Dance. Because of her phenomenal success here since she arrived in Carmel a few months ago she hopes still to find enough space to carry out the full program of her teaching.

Horse Show Planned For County Fair

Adequate facilities for staging a horse show in conjunction with the Monterey County Fair, September 25 to 28, has been assured with permission from the Navy to use the Del Monte polo field stables. The area is under lease to the Navy and is part of properties recently purchased from Del Monte.

R. D. Collins, general manager of the horse show, said he expected from 250 to 300 entries from the 11 western states. Entries in the fair are confined to Monterey, San Luis Obispo, San Benito, Santa Cruz and Santa Clara counties.

Children as well as adults will be given opportunity to take part in the horse show, which will include English and western riding. Entry blanks will be sent to horsemen's association throughout the west.

Entries in the fair are being received daily, according to Matthew Beaton, secretary-manager. Premium lists, offering prizes totaling more than $58,000 are being distributed, and may be obtained by writing P. O. Box 430, Monterey, Calif. Closing date for entries is September 13.

ifornia Savings and Loan League, statewide trade organization.

Assets of the Carmel association are now $478,950, a gain of $74,808 as compared with figures released as of June 30, 1946.

League Of Women Voters Will Hold First Fall Meeting On Sept. 17

Plans are being completed for the first fall meeting of the League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula by the president, Mrs. Edmond Sullivan, and her staff, and the launching of a new system of activity developed by the national L. W. V. to promote the effectiveness of the organization. Mrs. Samuel May of Berkeley, president of the California League, will be the guest speaker at the opening meeting on September 17, at which old and new members will have the privilege of greeting her at the one partly social occasion of the year. New members will be welcomed and the program discussed.

Mrs. Sullivan's staff are as follows: Mrs. Eben Whittlesey, second vice-president; Mrs. Bruce Spencer, recording secretary; Mrs. L. O. Kellogg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Peter Ferrante, treasurer; and Miss Lydia Weld, Mrs. Charles Simpson, and Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni, directors. Since the election in June the first vice-president, Mrs. Wilbur Wilkinson, resigned to join her husband in Pasadena. Her successor will be elected at the coming meeting. Mrs. Thor Hellum resigned as director, as she has accepted the post of county librarian in Placer county.

In addition to elected officers, committee chairmen are: Mrs. Geisen, education; Mrs. Frances Ballard, legislation; Mrs. Howard Clark, taxes; Mrs. Ferdinand W. Haasis, international relations; Miss Orre Haseltine, finance; Mrs. Leoni, membership; Mrs. J. L. Williams, publications, and Miss L. Lucile Turner, publicity.

The executive board of the League will meet the first week in September at the home of the president.

European Tour Is Subject Of Lions Club Talk

Harrison Godwin addressed the Carmel Lions Club on Tuesday evening at their regular dinner meeting at the Mission Ranch, and gave his impressions of Europe as gained from a two and a half months' trip with his wife over territory that he and she covered on their honeymoon ten years ago.

Having flown to New Orleans, where they found the sea food dinners enough to make any city famous, the Godwins boarded the Stella Polaris, a cruise ship accommodating 176 passengers. They touched Havana, Haiti and St. Thomas of the Virgin Islands before crossing the ocean. After a call at the Portuguese port of Madeira they went to Casablanca and Rabat in North Africa, then to Gibraltar where the harbor is still filled with sunken ships. Next came Lisbon, Le Havre, Copenhagen, Gutenberg, where the shipyards are busy in spite of the fact that in many other ports ships are tied up and rotting, and Oslo.

After the cruise of 35 days, in Motorists ... Take Heed!

Pinky was just a little white dog. Her pedigree was a mystery. But pedigree or no, she was the greatly beloved pet of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rastorfer.

This little dog was twelve years old and perhaps not quite as agile as she had been in her puppy days, but she was still able to enjoy life to its fullest extent.

Last Sunday evening, while Pinky was walking home from a stroll on the beach with her master and mistress, she was struck by a careless and heedless motorist who drove off to leave the grieving owners to carry the injured dog home to their car and thence to the veterinarian. Her injuries were so serious and painful that she was put mercifully to sleep.

which experiences of a small lifetime were crowded, they arrived in London where they were free to follow their own whims for four days before boarding the Golden Arrow at Dover and crossing the Channel to Calais. In Paris they luxuriated for 15 days but arrived in Bordeaux in time to take advantage of the first sailing of a French Line steamer since before the war. They sailed on the old De Grasse, which had been sunk and left under water for nine months but restored at great expense. Within ten days they were in New York, and at midnight entered the cabin of a DC-6 and were wafted across the country, arriving at Mills Field in San Francisco at 7:30 in the morning.

Mr. Godwin spoke at length on conditions in the war-torn cities and the scarcity of food which the populations of all the European countries are suffering, and at the same time he was able to intersperse his remarks with anecdotes which kept the Lions amused.

Have You Read . . . ?

BY KIPPY STUART

Juan of Manila, by Marie McSwigan. (E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc., New York, 1947.)

Children go to war too. In this day of violence done to those who are innocent bystanders, in many lands, boys and girls have stood up against the conqueror. Every country has its young hero, sung and un-sung, who has grasped the torch of freedom from a dying hand. The book, Juan of Manila, by Marie McSwigan, tells the story of a Filipino lad who, on a homemade portable radio, defied the Japanese right to their faces.

While Marie McSwigan's book is fiction, she has based her story on a real Tagalog boy who has become a Filipino legend. Juan de la Cruz, a Manila high school boy, actually did rig up a gadget out of baling wire, a door knob or two and a handful of hairpins—that turned itself into a portable radio. The machinations of this adolescent's mind will be understood by other adolescents, but to one who is ignorant of radio magic, it sounds incredible.

The story of Juan de la Cruz was first told by Raymond P. Cronin, Associated Press Chief in Manila, and from this documentary evidence, the author has made her story. It is said that this real boy, who took the name of Juan de la Cruz, actually did reach General MacArthur in Australia and that through information gleaned from these meager broadcasts, the General was able to keep in touch with the heart-beat of Luzon.

Liberally translated, "Juan de la Cruz" means "Man on the Street," and that is exactly what the young radio genius meant to convey. He was "the voice of his people."

In the fictional version of this story, two brothers, Juan and Enrique Valera, average boys in every-day life, suddenly find themselves engulfed in war. They see their father, Lieutenant Valera, go off to war; they witness the bombing of Manila; they live through the terrible days of Corregidor and Bataan. They listen to the final broadcast of "The Voice of Freedom" from Corregidor and then they wake up. Aren't they radio hams? Have they not chatted with other radio hams far and near? They will carry on; they will become the "Voice of Freedom."

But they must have electricity to do this job. These two boys, like shadows themselves, slip through the darkened streets of Manila, seeking out deserted spots where the "juice" is still alive. They brave dangers at every step and they live in fear, not only of the Japanese, but of the disloyal Filipinos who have gone over to the Japs. The Philippines had quite a healthy Fifth Column. Finally the day comes when they can no longer get to a "live wire." This does not stump our heroes. Friends are recruited and these friends peddle a bicycle for hours at a time to generate electricity.

The book, Juan of Manila, gives vivid pictures of the war-time happenings on Luzon. The war, the terror, the steadfastness of the Filipinos are all written for American youths to read. The workings of the "Bamboo telegraph" alone is an interesting story, for the "bamboo telegraph" is the mysterious jungle contraption that doubles for Western Union. As all good boys' books should be, it is minus women. Not a girl or woman appears in its pages. It is the story of a boy's world. You know. "Nerts to girls."

Incidentally, excellent reading for those with a deep sense of curiosity is the 62nd issue of the World Almanac, published by the New York World-Telegram. It contains just about every type of information, both useful and useless, that a person might want to know. The index lists—A.A.U. tract meets, 1946—as its first item, while the last one concerns the signs of the zodiac. There is even a brief account of the world's champion hiccupper—he has hicced continuously for 15 years . . . and not only that, he seems fairly proud of his record.

Days Before Yesterday

General discussion about the value of the pine trees which have made Carmel unique has evidently been rife through all the days before yesterday. A touching editorial appeared in The Pine Cone for August 20, 1937, when Ross Miller wrote:

"For true love of and appreciation for trees, look not to Carmel, where there seems to be more or less a continual hubbub about them, but to some treeless, desert community where every tree has had to be planted and carefully nurtured. Trees are cheap here, and only a noisy and tiresome minority has undertaken the task of making itself a nuisance about trees. True enough, the native forest is one of the features of particular charm which brought many people here in the first place, but after a time they take it for granted, and come to regard each haphazardly placed tree as an annoying obstruction."

"Instead of designing houses to fit into the trees, a rectangular clearing is made in the forest to suit a rectangular house. If a tree along the street obstructs a possible entrance to the garage, write a letter to the council about it and have it removed. That's simpler than relocating the garage and driveway."

"There was a time when Pacific Grove was forested. Today it is naked as an egg, and the main streets of Pacific Grove are as uninteresting as main streets the country over. And Pacific Grove is unprotected from the bleak breezes that sweep in from the ocean. What happened in Pacific Grove can happen in Carmel, and probably will."

"It is sheer nonsense to say that Carmel really loves its trees. You can find far more stringent laws about trees, and better enforcement of those laws, in many towns of the San Joaquin valley, where the people plant trees instead of chopping them down. No one would think there of applying for the removal of trees on city property, and the few straggly old native poplars and cottonwoods receive the veneration they deserve, though they are less beautiful than oaks and pines."

"The concerned minority in Carmel will have to continue to make itself tiresome about trees. They are no criterion of 'what the people of Carmel really want,' because most of the people of Carmel are indifferent, and don't care a snap of the fingers what becomes of the forest. They might, after the trees were gone, but protection of what we have is to be preferred to reforestation, or even to municipal planting of ornamental trees in formal lines, with due reference to prospective driveways."

This article is more than usually interesting in retrospect, and the recent news of Pacific Grove's better-late-than-never attempt to save the few trees which still stand wins the sympathy of Carmel tree lovers.

How large a minority do these tree lovers compose? Is there perhaps a complacency in most residents because they know that the active minded will take care of the issue for them? Those of us who smile tolerantly at the antics of the enthusiasts, when they manage to save the threatened trees, might leap into the breach and swing our own weight if it were necessary.

One Carmel resident claims that every Californian should be compelled to leave the state every two years in order to refresh his appreciation of it. Perhaps if every Carmelite should be deprived of the smell of pines every few weeks, his olfactory recognition would be sharpened. The salt tang in the air and the balm of pine oil together make up a large reason for the nostalgia that invades the hearts of Carmelites who find themselves on distant soil.

People do not live on their own lots only—they live in a community, and they draw peace of mind and repose from the privacy and shade given by the entire pine forest. This may be the reason that in Pacific Grove it is no longer considered the right of a householder to remove pine trees from his own property if they are an asset to the community as a whole.

Carmel Red Cross May Offer Post War Home Nursing Courses

The Carmel Red Cross Chapter is seriously considering the advisability of offering a post war course in Home Nursing, instruction to be given by the chapter in line with the policy of the National Red Cross program.

The Red Cross seeks to offer Home Nursing courses to the persons who need and want this instruction. It is necessary, however, to ascertain the public reaction to supporting and participating in such a course. Instruction on Home Nursing has been developed under National Red Cross auspices with a view to making available to all persons in the home the elementary principles and practices of home care for the sick.

Real Estate Instruction Starts Thursday, Sept. 4

For men and women who desire to learn the real estate profession either to qualify for the State Examination for a Broker's or Salesman's License, or for their own personal knowledge in handling their own property.

Class will be held on Thursday evenings at 7:30 p. m., in the Woman's Club building, located on Lincoln Avenue near the corner of West Gabilan Street, Salinas, and will be conducted for six weeks.

Instruction will be supervised by Mr. Eugene G. Garvin, a Licensed Real Estate Broker, who has had over 30 years of experience as an Educational Director and Teacher.

The training will consist of practical instruction on the principles of real estate conveyancing, the general legal effect of deeds, mortgages, land contracts, and leases; land economics, ethics, escrows, principal and agent, real estate practice, and the Real Estate Law.

Mr. Garvin will also advise the students on how to get started in the real estate profession, either part or full time; about associating with established brokers, or starting for themselves; how to secure listings and make sales; going through escrow, etc.

There will be a reasonable tuition fee, which can be paid in installments.

Prospective students are invited by Mr. Garvin to attend the "Opening Session" without charge or obligation.—Adv.

The standard course in Home Nursing covers a period of not less than 24 hours of class instruction and is planned for adult groups. No lesson outline is prepared for this course, the instructor, with the help of the standard guide for Red Cross nursing adapts the material from the Red Cross Nursing textbook to the needs of the class. The instructor will necessarily be a registered nurse and authorized by the American Red Cross to teach this course.

The course will be divided into two units and each may be taken separately.

Unit 1. Care of the Sick, is a course of six two-hour lessons in which are taught nursing procedures most frequently used in giving simple nursing care to the sick at home.

Unit 2. Mother and Baby Care and Family Health, is a course of six two-hour lessons in which the important factors dealing with the care of mothers and babies and family health are sought.

This course, if adopted, will be given at the Red Cross Chapter headquarters, and the time will be determined later.

Favorable public response to this offer is the determining factor as to whether or not the course shall be given. Those interested are asked to telephone or write Mrs. Dobie at Red Cross headquarters, Carmel 382.

Three Organ Concerts Planned For Peninsula

Three world famous organ virtuosos will present concerts on the Monterey Peninsula during the coming season, according to an announcement made by Edward Cadoret Hopkins, organist at St. Mary's-by-the-Sea. Hopkins is chairman of the organists' committee sponsoring the appearance of the artists, the first of whom will be David Craighead, nationally known California virtuoso. Craighead will be followed by Walter Baker, organist of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City, and the last virtuoso will be Jeanne Demessieux, 19-year-old musician. Craighead is to play in the Mayflower Church, September 16.

A board of patrons is now being organized, and during the month of August Peninsula residents are to be informed regarding the membership in the board and the possibilities of organ music on a more extensive scale than it has heretofore been heard in this locality.

All concerts are to be open to the public without charge.

Dr. Thomas Going Places

Dr. Faith Thomas, who has been coming to Carmel for over twenty-five years, is spending the month of August at her place on Monte Verde street. During the past week she has had as her guests Dr. Hazel Clark and Dr. Margaret Carroll of San Jose and Dr. Hilda Johnson of Oak Park, Illinois.

The first of next month Dr. Thomas will go east and on September 18 she flies from New York to Johannesburg, South Africa. She will be in Africa approximately three months, going to Cape town via Kimberly and returning to Johannesburg via Port Elizabeth and Durban. After visits to the African game reserve (Kruger National Park), and Victoria Falls Dr. Thomas will proceed north through the interior of Africa to Cairo. Four lake trips (Tanganyika, Victoria, Kyoga, and Albert), are included in the itinerary as well as approximately two weeks on a Nile river steamer.

If Dr. Thomas is able to get plane or ship reservations she plans to return via Australia and the South Seas. If not, she will return from Cairo to New York via Athens, Rome, Paris, Geneva, Shannon and Newfoundland. This is not Dr. Thomas' first trip to Africa as she and her mother were in Northern Africa in 1937 as part of a world tour.

Dr. Thomas is a daughter of Judge and Mrs. Dana Thomas of San Jose, and a sister of Mrs. Mark Raggett of Carmel.

Elizabeth Cass Married

Elizabeth Doyle Cass and Robert Gibbon of Philadelphia, were married Saturday afternoon in the chambers of Judge Ray Baugh in Monterey. Members of the families and a few friends were present. The bride wore a black faille suit, white accessories, and yellow roses in her hair. Dr. O. B. Doyle of Fresno, gave the bride away, and Carol Howard was her attendant. Richard Lofton acted as best man.

The new Mrs. Gibbon was former curator of the Carmel Art Gallery and was last year's president of P. T. A. She was graduated from Stanford University where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Robert Gibbon is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Gibbon of Philadelphia and a nephew of Mrs. John Hannay of Carmel. He is a graduate of Princeton University and a member of the Ivy Club. During the war he served as a lieutenant in the Navy. He is an executive of the Curtis Publishing Company.

After the ceremony, guests were invited to the Carmel home of Mrs. Gibbon where a buffet luncheon was served and the bride and groom were toasted in champagne.

Those attending were: Mrs. O. B. Doyle, mother of the bride; Dr. O. B. Doyle, Mrs. Gibbon's brother; her three sisters, Mrs. Blaine Rogers, Mrs. Conrad Haele and Mrs. James Howard, all of Fresno; Mrs. John Hannay of Carmel, aunt of the bridegroom; Miss Mar-

The Gibbons are remaining in Carmel for a few weeks before leaving for Philadelphia.

Quoting Phil Nesbitt

Mrs. Phil Nesbitt and her two children, Guy and Jane, arrived home at last, after six weeks spent in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. Guy, aged two, learned to dive in deep water (holding his nose), and Jane paddles about like a diminutive Johnny Weismuller. The Streamliner brought the trio west, where they were met in Berkeley by proud papa, Phil Nesbitt.

Her EYES are taking

BETTER SIGHT LAMP

It is easier to study when there's enough elbow room for comfort. A student needs plenty of desk space to spread out books and papers. But elbow room is not enough. The eyes must take it easy too. There are "Better Sight Lamps" made for just this situation. One is the swing-out, swivel-arm lamp that takes up no desk space and can be pulled up to shed light over the left shoulder. Or there is the tall standard student desk lamp with diffusing bowl that gives a wide spread of soft light. Now with school and college about to begin, the wise parent will see to it that good light is a part of the back-to-school equipment. Remember good light is cheap and sight is priceless.

DeWitt and will wear an ice-blue faille suit, a blue matching hat and will carry a nosegay of bouvardia and white roses. Her sister, Mrs. John S. Mapa, of Berkeley, will be her matron of honor and will be gowning in a dusty pink suit and will carry a nosegay. Edward Kuster will act as best man. A buffet supper will be served at the home of the bride's parents for the wedding party and members of the families.

Heidi and John met when Heidi was six years old and both families were living near the University of California, where the stadium is now located. Heidi's grandfather, Irving DeWitt, owned all that property. He was dean of the University, head of the department of mathematics and it was he who formed the Faculty Club. W. A. DeWitt, the bride's father, was also connected with the University. He was sent out from Yale and Harvard for fraternity organization work. Pre-school Opens September 8

The Carmel Pre-school will open for the fall term on September 8. Children are being registered from ages 2 to 6 years. Serving on the faculty will be Miss Alexandria Hague, who will supervise the playground, and Mrs. Glen Leidig who will have the indoor activities. Mrs. Louise Grigsby is director of the school.

The program includes outdoor and indoor play, exercises and games. A course in human relationship and social studies is given and music, rhythmic, nature study, dramatics, and other arts are part of the daily program.

The children learn to get along happily in a sportsmanlike spirit of give and take which tends to make social adjustment much easier than when postponed to a later age. The school has recently been notified of the granting of the new and exacting license required by the Department of Social Welfare.

Bain-Nicholson Wedding

Saint Mary's-by-the-Sea was the scene of the wedding of Helen Randol Bain and George A. Nicholson, Saturday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, when Dr. Albert Clay read the service which united them in marriage. White gladioli and dahlias were used effectively in decoration of the church. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Dr. F. V. Randol, wore an attractive frock of blue crepe with gray accessories accented by a corsage of baby orchids. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. David Hagemeyer, who was gowned in pink silk and wore a white hat trimmed in pink. Mrs. Randol, mother of the bride wore a handsome black outfit, the only touch of color being a corsage of pink flowers. Milton Nicholson, of Modesto, stood with the groom. Following the wedding, a reception for the wedding guests was held at the Randol home in Carmel where the bride cut a three tiered cake and champagne toasts were drunk. Helen Randol Bain is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. V. Randol of Carmel.

She has a host of friends on the Peninsula where she went to school in Pacific Grove and later attended San Jose State College. For the past two years she has taught at the Bay School. Out of town guests at the wedding were five cousins of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Attleford and son, Allen, of Berkeley, and Juanita and Devota Fisher, twin cousins from Oakland. From San Diego, came Dr. Neil Randol, brother of the bride, with his wife and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Randol of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaman of Livingston, California, and Mrs. Marie Morris of Modesto. After a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson will be at home in San Francisco.

RENJIM'S ICE CREAM PARLOUR on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth is since yesterday a place where you can sit and talk not only over delicious ice cream but also over coffee and cheese cake. Having found a capable Swiss in Los Angeles whose cheese cake is a miracle of succulence and delicacy, the owners of RENJIM'S are having said cheesecakes flown her daily, and every day after ten in the morning you may have cheesecake and coffee. In addition RENJIM'S has delicious ice cream, including Pistachio, and the shop will deliver the ice cream to your door between five and six in the afternoon if you call 1492-R during the day.

The new fall edition of the silk suit which goes with us everywhere with grace in summer, winter or spring or fall has arrived in THE CINDERELLA SHOP on Ocean. The suit, in fine rayon faille, comes in a mellow spruce green with a blue bloom to it and an even better black. The suit jacket is long and well fitted with the small waist and more natural shoulders characteristic of this coming season and the gored skirt is graceful and long. The whole effect is one of elegant slimness. You may have seen the suit modeled in the Wednesday fashion show. You'll be a longer, slimmer you in such a suit and the price is $35.00.

In LA DAME ROSE on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth you'll find a beautiful blouse made of a solid heavy crepe in black or white with a deeply pointed wing collar, long full sleeves with winged cuffs and small pearl buttons. The price is ten dollars, the maker is Charm of Hollywood and the general effect is fine. Another white blouse from the same house has bow-tied push-up sleeves and a wide round collar most ingeniously edged with lace. As for corsets, which are the backbone of LA DAME ROSE, Thelma Tilson has just received the Annetta line which is made for average and over figures. These corsets, or girdles, are beautifully made with either zippers or hooks and lined with plush and satin. They come in sizes for 35 to 40 inch waistline and look sleek on the outside and comfortable but firm within.

If the habits, polygamous and otherwise, of the sea lion, seal and sea otter about our shores have aroused your curiosity you'll find a small and convenient answer to your questions in a souvenir booklet called Sea Lions and Seals of California by Lillian Grace Paca who lives in Pacific Grove. The book gives you what you might call basic facts about Pinnipedia, or flipperfeet, as well as delightful drawings of the animals, romping on the rocks or afloat in the kelp beds, and for fifty cents you may buy it in BILL'S BOOK and CARD SHOP on Dolores and Sixth.

It may seem strange to see an art gallery listed in a shopping column, but William P. Silva's CARMELITA GALLERY on San Antonio north of Ocean is a place where pictures are shown to be sold. The gallery is open on Sundays during August from two until five in the afternoon and Mr. Silva will open it at other hours if you call 336 for an appointment. You might go down on Sunday afternoon and look about to see the Silva pictures, delicate and romantic things. Many of the pictures were in Mr. Silva's successful one-man show at the Carmel Art Gallery last year, and in the quiet intimacy of the CARMELITA GALLERY you may see again the dreaming Southern cypress pools and the mist hung mornings which Mr. Silva loves to paint.

For as little as two dollars spent at THE CARMEL ART SHOP in the SEVEN ARTS COURT on Lincoln you may have a solid photograph album or binder with a cover in either heavy acetate composition or thick steer hide and removable leaves covered with a durable plastic to protect prints. You may buy as many leaves as you wish, and the albums come in several sizes. These are the most practical containers and preservers of prints I've seen. They would become a group of wedding pictures vastly.

Sarah E. Chandler

Miss Sarah Elizabeth Chandler, Carmel pioneer artist, was interred in Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland, on Monday, August 18, following services at N. Gray & Company, Divisadero and Post, San Francisco, at which the rector of Trinity Church, the Reverend Leighton Howard Nugent officiated.

Miss Chandler studied at the old San Francisco School of Fine Arts, which was then located in the Mark Hopkins mansion on Nob Hill. She was a member of the Sketch Club, a group of notable women artists of the San Francisco Bay region in the nineties, members of which included Anne Brenner, Genevieve Rixford Sargent and Mrs. Ernest Peixotto. Miss Chandler was a member of the Society of Women Artists, the San Francisco Art Association, the San Francisco League of National Service and was a charter member of the San Francisco Women's City Club.

Miss Chandler's mother, the late Mrs. Georgian Pullen Chandler, was one of the original settlers of what is now Carmel, acquiring in 1891 thirty lots on Ocean Avenue, which Miss Chandler owned until 1926. She resided in Carmel up to that date. Miss Chandler was an intimate associate of DeNeale Morgan, the local artist, and was always prominent in community activities. Death came suddenly Thursday, August 14, at her apartment, 635 Sutter street, San Francisco.

Boy Scouts Enjoy
Yosemite Outing

Boy Scout Troop 32, under the leadership of Carl Bensberg, has just returned from a camping trip to Tuolumne Meadows, including a three-day hike to the summit of Mt. Lyle, the highest peak in the Yosemite National Park.

Jerry Robison, Stanley Fralich, James Edmondson and Merlin Ward carried their sleeping bags and full equipment, as well as food supply for three days, although other guests of the ranger program had their packs sent up by mule. Jerry lost a jar of peanut butter when an inquisitive bear learned how to unscrew the top. When Jerry came back from a reconnoitering trip and cried hoarsely, "Somebody's been sitting on my sleeping bag!" the bear ran off with the spoils.

"Righteous art thou, O Lord,

of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace" (3:17, 18).

"Science and Health with Key

Eddy: "When we fully understand our relation to the Divine, we can that had ever been written on the subject of Chinese geology and then made field trips into all the northern provinces of China. In the years 1922, 1923, and 1925 he was a member of the Asiatic expeditions sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History, and, under the leadership of Roy Chapman Andrews, the mammalogist, he went into The Gobi to collect fossils. He and Professor C. P. Berkey at this time began to prepare their book on the Geology of Mongolia. In the year 1924, between expeditions, he assisted the staff in compiling results of their findings. Then back he went into the field again, with a camel train of 125 animals requiring only nine men to lead them. The scientists and their student assistants and topographers traveled by motor across the desert, accomplishing their objectives before the caravan reached them to be loaded, or returning to headquarters in advance while the camels lumbered behind them, in their packs the quarried stone which harbored fossils.

Many an adventurer would have been satisfied to relax after a record like this, but Dr. Morris was always finding new earth upheavals to examine. In 1937 and 1938 he took a sabbatical leave from his department at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and—just for variety, let us say—occupied his entire time with more geology. He visited Germany, Russia, the Balkans, Turkey, Syria, Palestine, Egypt, Ceylon, India, Burma, the Malay Peninsula, the Dutch Indies, the Philippines, Japan, Hawaii—always wrestling secrets from the earth and publishing them as new guideposts for the scientists who are trying to record the truth about this little ball which is the home of man as well as of many other organisms.

During all the weary hours of traveling, during all the times of waiting for transportation or for connections with officials, who must supply permits for expeditions into the interior of these many countries, Dr. Morris and his wife were reading and thinking. They were developing a philosophy of happiness that may yet be recorded for other seekers to use as a new springboard. Dr. Morris says, "Poetry is one of the world's best means of expressing thought," and he marvels that frequently poetry is written by a man in active affairs, such as William Cullen Bryant, that literature itself is always the summation of wisdom gained the hard way.

This member of the Explorers Club and the Ends of the Earth Club, now looking into the flames across Mrs. Marshall's hearth, quotes from Robert Browning, one of his constant companions:

I dare at times imagine to my need
Some future state revealed to us
by Zeus,

Unlimited in capability
For joy, as this is in desire of joy,
—To seek which, the joy-hunger
forces us:

... Freed by the throbbing impulse we call death
We burst there as the worm into the fly,

Who, while a worm still, wants his wings.

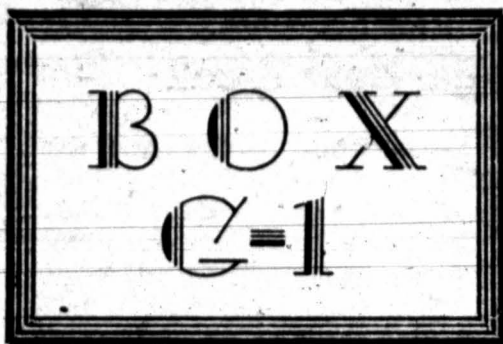

Private Schools, Baby Sitters Now Require Licenses

ing to child or age group. The license requires children to have a pre-admission examination from a practicing physician or practitioner stating that the child is free from communicable disease and a clearance is again asked after a continued illness. This also applies to any person or teachers of schools offering child care.

The license will be issued every 12 months and a member of the department's staff will make inspection calls. The person or school personnel must have had experience and be adequately trained as well as having personal and temperamental qualifications adaptable to child care.

Mrs. Ina T. Hart from the department visited Carmel this summer and made a survey of private schools here, with the result that licenses are now being issued to social institutions. Further information may be obtained by writing to the Department of Social Welfare, 995 Market street, San Francisco or 616 K street, Sacramento.

Dear Wilma:

When the courts send a person to the "pen," he gets a number... from then on he is not an individual.

In the factories, a fellow goes to work, he gets a number—no individuality.

He buys a house in the city—that house has a number—looks pretty much like all the rest in the block.

You no doubt are wondering what all this leads up to—well, are the houses in Carmel losing their individuality—are the folks there going to be just people without sufficient time to call for their mail and need numbers so that Uncle Sam can deliver it to them?

Note the ads in The Pine Cone's issue of August 8—two of them list numbered addresses.

Keep Carmel natural (in all ways) and as friendly as in the past.

Hope to spend next month as usual in Carmel.

Sincerely,
Robert M. Bennett

the beginning of the month and by the first of September the figures will probably equal those of last year. The public concern over this report stems from the fact that the year before last the collection for the month of August amounted to 36,000 tons.

In some quarters there is fear that the supply will be permanently depleted, but there is a possibility that the sardines have been taking a detour further out in the ocean and may return to familiar grounds at some time in the future. At the Marine Station studies are being made of conditions, in view of the fact that for a long period as much as 500,000 tons were taken each year, and no adequate explanation has been found as yet for the change in the industry.

For the California State Fair to be held at Sacramento from August 28 to September 7, the Fine Arts Building in the Court of Gardens will exhibit 89 oil paintings by California artists, including Main Street by Burton S. Boudney, Low Country Things by Richard Lofton, and Los Borachos by Gene Frances McComas, all three of whom are members of the Carmel Art Association. Of the several hundreds of black and white prints that were offered for the show, only 223 were judged worthy, and one of them is The Old Barn by Paul Whitman, also of Carmel.

Last Saturday evening when the Mills College Players showed the modern Spanish play, Fortunato, by the Brothers Quintero, Richard Morris took the lead and showed a talent that earned him an invitation to fly to Los Angeles and have a tryout before the Actors Laboratory. Morris is a graduate student of the Mills Summer Session and is an artist and scenic designer in his spare time. In this swift and brilliant play which depicted the poverty in Spain before the Spanish revolution, he took the part of a man whose soul was stripped bare while he faced the necessity of providing for a family. Rejecting temptations he was finally reduced to the sacrifice which made the play a moving human document. The audience was so enthusiastic that plans are being made to bring the Mills Players to the Peninsula soon again, under the direction of Dean Marian Stebbins.
